Personal statement

I'm an all round interested web developer with 6 years of commercial experience looking to work on exciting projects with exciting clients. Full of energy, experience, hard work and enthusiasm, need a new challenge and want to work in the heart of the creative industry.

Sees technology as a way of facilitating and improving communication between people and understands that people come before technology. A whizz at HTML5, CSS, JS, and more, so plenty to offer yet plenty still to learn.

Additional abilities

Deep understanding project scope, requirements, features and user experience.
Love to collaborate with design team to contribute technological expertise and capabilities.
Have prioritizing and managing skills to meet deadlines in anticipation of multiple project needs.
Always organizing files and statuses to keep project teams on the same page.
Have daily experience working with designers and back-end developers to build, test, debug and troubleshoot clean, web-standard compliant code that fulfill strategic business objectives.
Advanced in cross-platform and browser optimization and compatibility (IE, Safari, Firefox, Chrome, Opera). Would be ready to take ownership for successful implementation of design and functionalities with project managers, design and development team
